EXPERIENCES OF A FIGHT MANAGER

Funny Offers Made for the Services of Champion Joe Gans.

ONE ASKED FOR A FOOT RACE

Al. Herford Says He Will Write a Book Entitled "The Trials of a Manager."

Buffalo, June 6.—"When I get through with prize fighting and prize fighters," said Al Herford, the Baltimore sporting man, yesterday, "I am going to write a book on 'The Trials of a Manager.' I had fairly good peace before Joe Gans whipped Ernie and became the world's champion in his class, but since that night I have been harassed by cranks, knocked by friends of other boxers, laughed at by fools; but I am getting the money."

"No place is my home. I am unmarried, and a thousand dollars now and then does not set me out of my mind, as some people imagine. I have had some funny offers for Gans' services since he won, but I think the funniest was made by Jack Herman of this city, who offered me $800 to box McPartland. Anyone who knows anything about boxing is aware that Mr. Kid McPartland is no easy mark for anyone, and then an offer of $800 for a champion to meet a man of his calibre is laughable. I told Jack that I would take his measure then and there if he said he was not fooling, and after awhile he said he was."

"Almost in line with this offer was one from Philadelphia. The manager of the Penn Art Club, Mr. McCarthy, asked me to put Gans on there with some good man. I consented, and after several letters had passed between us, McCarthy wrote that there was but one man in that city who would draw with Gans, and whom do you suppose he meant? None other than Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the middleweight, who you know is also champion heavyweight of England."

"I laughed at first, but then it made me sore. I telegraphed back to McCarthy these words: 'I will let Gans fight O'Brien for 65 per cent. of the gross receipts. If O'Brien stops Gans in six rounds he gets the money; on the other hand, if he don't, then I want all the money. Answer right away.' That is the last I heard from Philadelphia on that matter. What is more, I will make the same offer now to Tommy Ryan or any of the welter-weight or middleweight boxers of the country."

"Last year I had a funny offer made me by a man who said he was manager of the Hagerstown (Md.) Fair. He wrote asking me to match Gans in a mile foot race with the champion of that country, and asking me what I would bet that Gans could beat him. I wrote back and told him that I would not take a chance in Hagerstown if he gave me the whole fair, and that ended that little seance."

"This brings up another funny thing. Four years ago the management of the Eastern (Md.) Fair wrote me asking me what I would take to bring Gans there to fight some man, and me to name the man and bring him with me. I wrote back that I would take $500. They said, 'come ahead.' I picked up a fellow named Tom Jenkins, who was Gans' sparring partner, and down we went to Eastern. The very first punch Jackson went down and staid down, claiming he was knocked out. The farmers thought it was great work, and gave over the $500, and we were back in Baltimore again the same night."

RYERSON WON TWO GAMES.

SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING

YACHTING NOTES.

Oliver Spanner's new 16-footer for the National Yacht and Skiff Club was launched Thursday night, and will sail her maiden race this afternoon. She has been painted white, and is as neat a bit of amateur work as is to be seen on the bay.

Adams and Gorrie's new 18-footer has been christened Boom-us-On.

Watch Viva under her new sail plan when she meets the Hamilton and Rochester 40-footers this season. R. C. Y. C. men will back her to beat the Hamilton pair, Chinook and Clytie, though both defeated her handily last season at Buffalo.

In the 30-footer, Phalerope, which he purchased from Mr. William E. Ward, Mr. Percy Bath now has one of the finest little yawls on the lake. Mr. Bath spent money with a lavish hand on Phalerope. She appears under a new coat of white paint, and much polished woodwork, this season, and has been rechristened the Dolly.

The schooner Ann Brown, the oldest sailing vessel on the great lakes, which narrowly escaped being broken up for fire wood at the Credit this spring, is now the flag ship of the Belmont Dinghy Club at the Island.

The 16-footer Alexandra, formerly of the National Club's fleet, mixed it up with a racing shell one day last week, and is now in the repair shop. The shell went half way through her.

The Mackinac Rosalind has been purchased by a syndicate, which includes several members of the Mahiestick Club.

The R. C. Y. C. will hold two more seamanship races this summer similar to those which were held last season. The races will be a bit more complicated this year, and seamanship will be a larger factor than speed.

Mr. MacKeen, the energetic Honorary Treasurer of the R. C. Y. C., has produced accurate charts of the R. C. Y. C. racing courses, and has hung them up in conspicuous places in the club house, so that all racing skippers may examine them. This saves a lot of questioning on race days, and does away with the old excuse of the losing skipper, "I lost the buoy."

If you want to see a busy man, hunt up President E. K. Al. Weed, of the Lake Sailing Skiff Association. He is busy arranging for the Dominion Day regatta here, and it's going to be a success if hard work will help it along.

A dinghy handicap race between the commodores of the various city yacht clubs is respectfully suggested as an added attraction for the Dominion Day regatta here. Commodore Jarvis of the R. C. Y. C. should be asked to tow a tin can over the stern of his dinghy.

The Queen City Yacht Club will, it is predicted by those who have studied the progress of yachting and skiff sailing in Lake Ontario, in three years be the premier skiff organization of the lake. The club is solid financially, and has one of the finest club houses on the lake. It is also blessed with a few progressive officers.

CINCINNATI HERE ON THE 17th. Arrangements have been made by Manager Barrow for an exhibition game with the Cincinnati National League Club on June 17th. On the same date Pittsburg will play in Buffalo. According to the schedule Buffalo is billed to play here on June 17th, but the clubs have come to an agreement in the matter, and the game will be played later in the season. It is altogether likely that Pittsburg will come here for a game in September.

BASEBALL BREVITIES. —Falkenburg, a pitcher from the University of Illinois team, joined the Worcester club yesterday.

—From all over the Eastern League circuit come strenuous kicks against the umpires. There doesn't seem to be one of them that can tell a strike for a ball from a steamboat.

—Poor Looie Bierbauer has been released by Newark. He covered second bag in excellent shape, but his old failure at hitting was the cause of his dismissal. Logan, a Scranton man, takes Looie's place.

—Newark will play an exhibition game with the Pittsburg National League club at Newark next Sunday.

—The Cincinnati National League team will play an exhibition game at Diamond Park with Toronto a week from next Tuesday.

CRICKET RECORDS AT PHILADELPHIA

Total of 1,268 Runs Scored in the Match Won by the Germantown Club.

MADE 559 IN ONE INNINGS

Complete Score of One of the Most Remarkable Games Ever Played on the Continent.

Philadelphia, June 6.—The big cricket match between Belmont and Germantown, Pa., which has been the talk of the cricket-loving public for the last few days, was brought to a conclusion before a large crowd of spectators at Elmwood yesterday afternoon, when the West Philadelphia achieved the feat of wiping out the 290 runs necessary to win, and had three wickets to spare at the finish.

The match was a notable one in several respects; the Germantown second innings of 569 being the record for an innings, the 1,268 runs scored in the whole match being a record for any match in this country, and the contribution of 208 by B. H. Bohlen a record for an individual innings in Halifax Cup cricket. Great credit is due to Germantown for the splendid uphill work of the team in the second innings, and still greater credit to Belmont for the consistently strong batting of its men throughout the match, and the persistency with which they went for the victory.

When play was resumed yesterday Belmont needed 152 runs to win, and had six wickets, with which to achieve the feat. Keenan, who was not out 55, carried his total to 55 before being bowled by Middleton. Arthur Wood bolstered up the tail of the innings by carrying his bat for 62, and Graham, Hurditch, and Keenan, jr., all give invaluable assistance. The complete score follows:

RIDLEY BEAT TRINITY SCHOOL.

On Varsity campus yesterday Bishop Ridley College of St. Catharines and Trinity College School of Port Hope played their annual school cricket match, the former eleven winning by 10 wickets.

T. C. S. batted first, and were all out for 65. Plummer and Smith being the only batsmen to obtain doubles. Ridley batted second, and had three wickets down for 15. Gooderham and Kennedy raised the score to 44, at which score both went out. McGivern and Grasett had brought the total to 51 at lunch. On resuming both batted steadily, and soon the T. C. S. total was passed, and Ridley's score had reached 75 before Grasett was taken at the wicket by Smith from Bevan's bowling. Newman then partnered McGivern and the total had reached 106 before the Ridley captain was caught at long slip, putting together 37 in splendid style. The other batsmen all added a few, and the innings closed for 123, or 58 ahead of the T. C. S. score. In their second venture T.C.S. did somewhat better, and made 74, Smith again being top scorer with 17. Bevan made 16 by free hitting, and all added to the total, the last wicket putting on 11 runs. This left Ridley 17 runs behind, but these were easily made without the loss of a wicket, due to Kennedy's free hitting for 22 not out. Greenhill played safely for his 4. Ridley thus won by 10 wickets. A large number of the supporters of the two schools were present, and the good playing of both teams was generously applauded. Following is the score:

I, WILLIAM HENRY PARKINSON of the City of Montreal, having accepted the challenge issued by Granda Hermanova y Cia, Cigar Manufacturers of the City of Montreal, to select by smoking and name correctly, from an equal number of mixed Grandas and imported Havana Cigars, at least 100 correctly, and having made the attempt to do so under conditions absolutely fair and satisfactory to me, I now make this statement, That I was unable to make the selection of 100 correctly, and having made the attempt, I named only 22 (or 41 p.c.) correctly. And I further believe and possible for every man, by smoking these cigars, to make the distinction. As the result of my test, I consider that Grandas Cigars equal in every particular to the high-grade imported cigars of a number of years. I did not know any member of the firm, and had no interest in accepting the challenge except my recollection that I could make this distinction.

A GOOD RACING STORY.

Irishman Bet His Week's Wages and Lost, and Then Asked the Jockey What Delayed Him.

An hotel clerk told the following racing story about an Irishman, who bet his week's wages on a race: "The old fellow went out to the track to make a killing," continued the clerk, "He had been tipped off in great style to play one of the horses, and had promised to bring Bridget enough money home to buy a whole set of spring bonnets and clothes galore. He rushed into the betting ring, where the odds were 100 to 1 against his sure thing. He reached down in his trousers pocket and pulled out his roll. Carefully he counted off the bills. They were all of the minimum greenback denomination—$1—and he peeled off ten, leaving no core at all. "Pat made the bet all right, and then walked off smilingly. He began to figure out how much money he would have when the winning numbers were posted. 'It's a thousand, methinks,' he commented. And then he pondered, 'No,' he mused; 'begob, I will have a thousand and tin.' "Well, to make a long story short, the race was quickly run, and Pat's sure thing pulled in last, about three minutes behind the flyers in front. Pat saw the horse go by the stand; his colors trailing. His hopes had gone up in the air. Then he saw the horses come back to the judges' stand for the jockeys to weigh out. Pat went to the fence, and, calling to the boy who had the mount on his sure thing, he said: "I say, sonny, what delayed ye?" ADVANCE GUARD A GOOD HORSE. (From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

What a consistent performer is Advance Guard! The son of Great Tom and Nellie Van has gone to the post seven times this season. He has finished first on two occasions, been second three times, and unplaced twice. Advance Guard is the kind of horse a betting man loves. He can always be depended on to do his best when ridden intelligently. He is honest and game to the core. His record to Morning-side was a most meritorious performance, for he was conceding fourteen pounds to the winner.

HAMMOCKS...

THE JOYS OF A BALL GAME. When the pad is on the catcher, and the pitcher's in his place, and the batter keeps his optics on the distance to first base, then the tension is tremendous on the truly loyal fan. Who is handing out instructions just as swiftly as he can—And a thrill of apprehension hits the umpire in the spine, when the rooter's on the bleacher and the coacher's on the line. When the rooter's on the bleacher and the sun is blazing down—Then we lose all thought of labor and the other cares of town, And we hie upon the street car, where the passengers are thick, And a fellow has to hang on with his eyebrows, if he'll stick, Till they dump us at the ball grounds, where the fence is mostly sign—When the rooter's on the bleacher and the coacher's on the line. When the rooter's on the bleacher—oh, the soul-inspiring shout, When the umpire says the player on the other side is out! Oh, the anarchistic outbreak when the robber says the same Of a player on the home team when we're playing for the game! And I wouldn't be the umpire, who can't please either nine, Or the rooter on the bleacher, or the coacher on the line. When the rooter's on the bleacher—then the gentle damsel goes in the middle of the grand stand and they murmur soft and low That the game is "just too lovely," it is "charming," "dear," and "cute," And they reckon every player by the wrinkles in his suit! And they think some good flypaper to catch flies with would be fine—When the rooter's on the bleacher and the coacher's on the line.
