ON PARLIAMENT HILL

By Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, June 11,—When Jabel Robinson arose to address the House every ear was strained, for it was known that the member for West Elgin had strong views on the subject of goats and false teeth, which commodities, in a moment of weakness, the Finance Minister had admitted to the free list. The historic speech was delivered on the Greek Kalends, the same day that the Minister of Agriculture introduced a bill to encourage the breeding of Welsh rarebits. The clock in the Green Chamber struck thirteen; there were two moons in the sky; and, by the same token, the Sergeant-at-Arms had swallowed the mace.

On the same day Mr. Monk kissed Mr. Tarte three times on his baby brow, and Mr. Tarte, overcome with emotion, presented the leader of the Quebec Conservatives with a life subscription to La Patrie; George Taylor repudiated the National Policy; Colonel Sam Hughes burned the Hutton correspondence; Billy Maclean abandoned the idea of buying the C. P. R. for a dollar and a half; Mr. Borden formulated a railway policy that would wash. E. B. Osler sent a box of chocolate drops to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, Seymour Gourley invited the American Republic to a clam-bake; and Dr. Sproule submitted his voice to a piano-tuner.

* * *

The member for West Elgin started in with his customary vigor. "Mr Speaker," he said, "the records of the Agricultural Committee will show that I am first in every practical movement to advance this fair Canada of ours. From time to time my voice has been raised in behalf of progress and reform. It was I who suggested that fire-escapes should be provided with hook and ladder. It was I who brought to the attention of the farming community a new rotation of crops which would restore the exhausted soil and turn blight into a blessing. I allude, sir, to my famous theory that wild rice should alternate with ham sandwiches in the fields of the grand old Province of Ontario. Who was it that took hold of a waste product like campaign literature and by using it as manure saved this country thousands of dollars? Who was it induced pumpkin pies to grow on bushes, and so avoid the pastry cook and the middleman? Who was it encouraged hens to lay hard-boiled eggs and build up the picnic industry of this broad Dominion? Who was it discovered that dairy farms should be sown with buttercups and that windmills should be run with speeches from Hansard? Who was it solved the problem of irrigation by planting the side lines with water lilies? Who was it advocated that there should be Government ownership of air? Who was it protested, day in and day out, against the scandalous and extravagant practice of equipping railways with Ascot ties? Who was it, when there was a new idea to boost or an old fogie to knock—who was it, I repeat, was in the van and over the touch line? Who but the member for West Elgin, who now addresses the House?

"I have said enough," continued the member for West Elgin, "to show that my motives are unimpeachable. The good of my country is my first, last, and only purpose. As for politics, I despise them. Although I have never cast anything but a Conservative vote since I was twenty-one years of age, I am not a party man. I am independent. I am a man of convictions, many convictions, I may say, for I was once the village constable, and though I am now a farmer, engaged in the peaceful occupation of grumbling at the weather, I could find it in me, if the emergency required, to become again the instrument of the law, and to clap the handcuffs on this reckless Government. Yes, Mr. Speaker, the old constabulary spirit is strong within me. I would arrest and confine and bring to trial the criminal folly of the Laurier Administration. I refer, sir, more particularly to that black act of the Finance Minister by which goats and false teeth are admitted into this country free of duty. When I think of this shameful conduct there isn't enough language in West Elgin to express my indignation.

"Goats, Mr. Speaker! And where will these goats come from? From the United States, to be sure. These peevish and ill-tattered animals, cursed with the propensities of a pile driver, will wander about this land, with the Star-Spangled banner in their hearts, and treason in their foreheads. These goats will rush us into annexation. They have a terrible knack of driving an argument home, as anybody will acknowledge who has ever felt them searching for a vital spot. I am a plain, unlettered man, with no pretensions to political sagacity, but it needs no Solomon to pierce this sinister design. Here is a straight slap at the British preference. I can see in it a barking back to that old cry of reciprocity in natural products which the Minister of Trade and Commerce has never entirely abandoned. Everybody concedes that the goat is a butter. Is this fair Canada of ours to be subjected to the competition of butters from the United States which will enter our markets scot free? I know that discussion has long raged over the question which is the butt end of a goat, but I should have thought that, pending the settlement of this vexed topic this Government might, at least, have taken both ends of the goat, and taken chances on which end was dutiable.

"The goat, sir, is a creature of evil repute. We have all heard of the man who gets 'as full as a goat.' What does the Government mean, Mr. Speaker, by encouraging an animal whose morals are crystallized in a proverb like that? It will not surprise me, sir, if the electors of Canada arise in their wrath and expel from power a Government which has flung such an insult in the face of prohibition sentiment. Perhaps the Liberal party has a mind to conciliate the Irish, who are addicted to goats. Well, let them have the Irish, for we can't get them. Perhaps Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues think to ingratiate themselves with the Orange lodges, who, lacking goats, have been forced to use modern substitutes in the rites of initiation. But let me tell them that the Orange lodges see through this snare. They are not to be caught with these hircine blandishments. And though the Liberal Government may be well affected toward goats because the odor of their deeds is rank and overpowering, the Orange order is aware of animals that smell just as badly and serve the purpose quite as well. There is, for instance, the camel of Arabia, the skunk of our own forests; and, if inanimate substances are taken into account, there is Limburger cheese. No, Mr. Speaker, the Orange vote of this country is not to be cozened with such transparent flatteries.

"I pass now to false teeth. I will admit, sir, that this decrepit Administration is in that parlous state where false teeth may be regarded as a necessity. They have worn away their own teeth feeding at the public crib, and they have need of something to enable them to chew the rag a little longer. They have already put wooden legs on the free list, no doubt, because their legs were pulled beyond endurance by grafters and office-hunters, and now they are going to add false teeth. And if false teeth, why not false hair, a thatch for those noble domes of thought which glisten on the Treasury benches? I notice, sir, that the brows of the Cabinet extend to the back of their neck, and the expanse to be covered by a blush is that much greater. Under the circumstances, I think that false hair would be a good thing to hide the confusion they must feel when they reflect on their broken pledges of economy and their forgotten doctrine of free trade. And if false hair, why not false eyes? Surely they could see as far into a millstone with false eyes as they do with the purblind organs with which nature has provided them! Is this Government aware that there is only one man in the world that can make a false eye that will fit all the people all the time? The others have a habit of dropping out when a man is trying to look pretty, and there is always the danger that the ordinary glass eye of commerce may be swallowed in one's sleep. The only man who makes a glass eye which is at the same time safe and true to life is Muller of Germany, but his efforts are barred by the atrocious German surtax. The Good Book, Mr. Speaker, says that the fool's eyes are in the ends of the earth. I take that to mean, sir, that this fool Government is doing its best to keep a good line of glass eyes confined to Germany.

* * *

"False teeth, Mr. Speaker, are another matter. They do not come from Germany, but from the United States, for which country this Government has a sneaking friendliness. These Yankees are to be permitted to flood this country with celluloid teeth, not good honest British teeth, that will crack a hickory nut, but brittle mockeries from the land of wooden nutmegs. The Liberal Government thinks that the best way to put Yankee notions into our heads is to get Yankee teeth into our mouths. I, for one, sir, am a Britton and a patriot. Let me suffer untold tortures with toothache sooner than that I should press my lips against this insidious enemy! For me the bandaged jaw and twitching countenance rather than ease and Yankee grinders! As a poet of my own county has written in the St. Thomas Journal:

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"I would go suffering to bed
Sooner than have a Yankee tooth in my head."

* * *

"Mr. Speaker, I shall conclude by moving the following amendment to the amendment:

"'Resolved, that all American goats, imported into Canada free of duty, when they happen to be of the Billy-goat persuasion, shall be allowed to try their mettle on the Minister of Agriculture, who shall, in no way, endeavor to circumvent the flank movement, which is the goat's strongest point of attack.

"'Resolved, moreover, that all imported goats shall be provided with American false teeth, after which they shall be fed exclusively on tin cans, old shoes, broken bottles, and other substances which will test the lasting qualities both of goats and teeth.'"

SUIT BY ATLAS LOAN

To Secure Evidence of Dying People on Some Notes Not Yet Due.

Rather unusual legal proceedings were begun at Osgoode Hall this morning, when the Atlas Loan Company asked that "testimony be perpetuated" in the actions against W. H. Davis and B. F. Honsinger of St. Thomas.

The proceedings are on promissory notes, which are not yet due. As a result, there is no immediate cause for action, but it is feared that certain witnesses may die before that time, and the liquidator wants their testimony taken now for future use.

There are English precedents for the application, but only one similar Canadian case.

The Atlas Loan is also suing W. H. Davis and his wife, Sarah Davis, to set aside an assignment of moneys on deposit. It is alleged that the assignment followed the Atlas Loan liquidation.

Resuming at the Soo.

The first step is being taken toward resuming operations at the Soo, taking the form of proceedings at Osgoode Hall to remove the Algoma Steel Company's assets from the liquidators' possession. No opposition to the motion is expected.

BROKE THE FINGER OF A POLICEMAN

Another Officer Was Bitten by Man He Arrested—Police Cases To-Day.

"James Rutledge, you are charged with an aggravated assault on your wife," announced Magistrate Denison in Police Court this morning. Rutledge admitted that he was guilty, but gave the excuse that he was drunk. His wife wanted him released.

"That's very inconsistent," said the court.

"Well, he's not bad when he's sober," said Mrs. Rutledge.

"And how much is he sober?"

"About five months out of twelve."

"Then he is seven-twelfths drunk," figured the magistrate.

"And I have five children," added Mrs. Rutledge.

"I suppose you have to support the children when he is drunk?"

"Yes, I have to feed both him and the children then."

"Well, don't you think I had better send him down for six months?"

"No; not this time," pleaded the wife.

"Well, I'll let him go now, but if he gets drunk again come here and tell me, and I'll send him down."

And Rutledge went away with his wife.

TO PRISON FOR THEFT.

Sadie Delmar, who Frank Bush alleged stole $196 of his money, was convicted and sentenced to six months in the Mercer.

"Can't you suspend my sentence, yo' Worship?" pleaded the girl. "I'm not well, and my health is very poor. If you lets me go I'll nevah come back again."

"Well," said the magistrate, "you'll be comfortable at the Mercer. It's in a healthy locality."

EASY FOR EGELNICK.

Morris Egelnick, who it was proven kept a gaming house at 221 Queen west and got a rake-off from a game of casino, was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

The three men who were found in the place—Louis Feller, Louis Weiman, and Harry Erler—were discharged, the evidence which condemned Egelnick not relating particularly to the time when they were there. Egelnick might have been sentenced to one year's imprisonment, and therefore he escaped rather easily with a small fine.

Catherine Lorenzo charged her husband, Joseph, with failure to support her.

Nicholas Murphy pleaded for the accused. Said he: "This woman keeps a boarding-house, and abuses and beats her husband, even kicking him out."

"Well," answered Crown Attorney Curry, "if she keeps the house and earns the money she deserves the right to wear the trousers."

The case was adjourned for a week.

BROKE OFFICER'S FINGER.

Thomas Crozier, when arrested by Policeman McArthur on a charge of drunkenness, resisted arrest so strenuously that he and his friends broke the officer's finger, and the injured member had to be bound up in splints. He was fined $10 and costs or 60 days.

A similar penalty was imposed on John Clark, who was also intoxicated. Policeman Holmes took him in charge and Holmes savagely bit the officer's hand, injuring it rather severely.

Moral—Resist not the arm of the law.

Blanche Royal, who has previously attempted to end her life, was charged this morning with malicious injury to the Industrial Refuge, Belmont street. She broke two windows, it is alleged, and on Saturday night she became unconscious, and had to be taken to the Emergency Hospital. The doctors diagnosed the case as an attack of hysteria.

The magistrate did not hear any evidence, and sent the girl to the jail doctor for examination.

FATHER WITHDREW BOND.

Haskel Schwartz, 96 Elizabeth, was charged with the theft of a wheel from Max Starkman.

"I paid him $8.50 for the wheel," said Schwartz.

The case was adjourned a week for more evidence to be secured. He had previously been released on bail being provided by both himself and his father, $400 each. His father now refused, however, to continue as surety for his son.

"Are you afraid he'll run away?" asked the magistrate.

The father would not say so, but he allowed his son to be taken into custody. Just then, however, a young man, by name Adolph Hirs, 56 Elizabeth street, came forward and offered the necessary bail, and Schwartz was liberated.

Mary Ann Dunn exhibited what she claimed was a broken arm, and blamed James and Nora Rooney for the damage. The Rooneys have laid a charge against Mrs. Dunn which Magistrate Kingsford is to hear, and, accordingly, this case was adjourned till Wednesday afternoon.

SHE SOLD THE FURNITURE.

Annie Thompson, a young married woman, bought some furniture from the O'Malley Company on the instalment plan, and before she had completed her payments she sold it. She pleaded guilty to the charge of theft and was remanded until Wednesday.

John Smith, who was accused of stealing a cap from R. A. Somers, a storekeeper, was remanded until called on for sentence.

YAMA WINNER OF THE R.C.Y.C. CRUISE

Keno Victor in Second Class Division—Little Nell Defeated at Q.C.Y.C.

In a light southerly breeze Saturday the R. C. Y. C. fleet sailed to Oakville. The fleet, for racing purposes, was divided into two divisions. The first division, consisting of 35-footers and under, got away at 2 o'clock, with Keno, of Hamilton, sailed by that good sportsman, Geo. Tuckett, in the lead. Thomas Merritt's new one, Petrel II., was right after her, and these two, with Beaver, well up, fought it out. It was a tight race until Port Credit was reached, and then Keno drew away and won handily. The yawls Gladys and Naomi and the 29-footer Whirl were far astern.

Yama, George Pearson's narrow deep cutter, had the heels of the first-class fleet in the light going, and though Canada got away with a lead Yama soon took command of the situation. Vreda and Canada fought it out all the way for second place, but the steel cutter had a half a minute to the good when the piers were entered. Strathcona quit five miles out of the harbor. The time:

First Class.

	Start.	Finish.
Yama	2.10	9.10.00
Vreda	2.10	9.38.00
Canada	2.10	9.38.30
Clorita	2.10	9.46.00
Vivia	2.10	10 45.50

Second Class.

Keno	2.00	9.32.00
Petrel II.	2.00	10.01.00
Beaver	2.00	10.10.00

The fleet threshed back in a fresh easterly breeze Sunday afternoon.

R. C. Y. C. DINGHIES.

The two R. C. Y. C. dinghy races in the bay were well contested. The first boat home in the 14-foot dinghy class was Norman Gooderham's freak dinghy. This boat has a barrel bottom and high wall sides. She is a light weather craft, but at that was well beaten by A. J. Phillips' boat when she got a favorable slant. McQuillan, the Canoe Club's expert dinghy sailor, gave Phillips a good race, and he, too, at one time looked to have the race safe, when he picked up a soft spot. A couple of those who finished well up fouled buoys or opponents and conveniently forgot to say anything about the incidents when they reached the finish. Their opponents were too good sportsmen to enter protests. The times:

14-foot Dinghies.

	Start.	Finish.
N. B. Gooderham	3.05	5.09.00
A. J. Phillips	3.05	5.15.17

THE NEW L. S. S. A. CLASS.

That the new 16-foot ballasted class of the L. S. S. A. will furnish as good racing as the popular 16-foot skiffs was plainly evidenced by Saturday's initial race for the class, when, over the Queen City course in a drifting match, two boats turned out by different designers and built forty miles apart, sailed nick and tick. George E. Gooderham's Little Nell was first to cross the starting line. Ross Gooderham's new one was well up, and they sailed within a couple of boat lengths of each other for two legs of the course. On the final leg the new boat crawled away and won by a hundred yards or more.

Q. C. Y. C. CRUISE.

The Queen City Yacht Club race to Rosebank on Saturday, at the invitation of Mr. A. Pringle, resulted in a victory for the Whitecap over her rival, the Escape, and the three other boats in the cape, and the three other boats in the competition. The start was made in a very light breeze, and by sunset the fleet was still off the Scarboro Bluffs. Whitecap, manned by A. Pringle and Walter Arms, bore far out to sea, while the Escape, under W. Hales, George Underwood, and A. Martin; Shearwater, with S. Salmon, L. Allen, W. Curtis, and Burt Armstrong aboard, and Sunbeam, manned by Louis Kerwin, Arthur Roebuck, Chas. Kerr, and Walter Roebuck, all hugged the shore to take advantage of the land breeze. The Whitecap policy proved the best, for shortly after midnight Pringle's fleet 16-footer was dashing through the water under a spanking breeze. She finished at 2 o'clock, two hours ahead of the Escape. Sunbeam met with an accident shortly before the starting gun, and when she got out the gap the other boats were fully two miles ahead. Sunbeam is supposed to do her best work in a heavy breeze, but she did well under the light zephyr, and by nightfall had passed the Salmon-Allen crew. At about 2 o'clock she was within speaking distance of the Escape. She finished at 6 o'clock, with Shearwater about two miles astern.

The return trip was made with a good breeze aft, and some rapid wing-and-wing work was done, the Escape making the run in about four hours. The prizes were given by Mr. A. Pringle, who also gave the boys a good time at his cottage in Rosebank.

THE MIMICO RACE.

Very poor sailing weather marked the opening of the races of the 14-foot dinghies of the club on Saturday. The breeze came from one direction and then another and was very light and uncertain. Nevertheless Mr. Johnstone, who sailed his last season's boat, Clio, won by the good margin of over 12 minutes. He handled his boat very skilfully and took advantage of every shift of the wind. Dr. Godfrey, in his new boat, Constance, also sailed a masterly race, and, although he was third on the first round, he managed to bring his boat in a good second by clever handling. Mr. Telfer, who also has a new boat, the Valcour, dropped behind on the last round, but came in third, 21 seconds ahead of the old cupholder, Lorna Doone, which, in turn, finished ahead of Mr. Daly's Alice. The Pippa, owned by Mr. J. M. Godfrey, was up against the bad proposition of poor sailors and soft spots, and finding that combination altogether too much for her she withdrew from the race and will be heard from later.

The club intends holding an open 14-foot dinghy race over its course on July 9th, and all 14-foot dinghies of Toronto clubs are especially invited to compete. The race will be sailed under L. S. S. A. rules and regulations, and it is hoped that a large number of boats will take part. Some handsome prizes are to be distributed.

	Start.	Finish.
Clio, W. Johnstone	3.00.20	4.18.58
Constance, Dr. Godfrey	3.00.30	4.31.50
Valcour, A. Telfer	3.00.28	4.35.39
Lorna Doone, F.A. Burgess	3.00.32	4.36.00
Alice, C. L. Daly	3.00.38	5.03.39
Pippa, J. M. Godfrey	3.00.10	Dr.

RACE CALLED OFF.

The National Yacht and Skiff Club's Mackinaw race was called off because of lack of wind. Yesterday there was no lack of breeze. It came up strong from the east in the afternoon, and Acushla of the N. Y. and S. C. went over in a puff, while Active of the Q. C. Y. C. carried away her horn and the wreckage punched a hole in the luff of the mainsail.

Berlin Rangers Beaten in W. F. A. Senior Match by 1 to 0.

Special to The Toronto Star.

Galt, Ont., June 13.—Galt defeated Berlin, their old-time rivals, in a W. F. A. senior championship game, here Saturday by 1 goal to 0. The locals held the play for the greater part of the time, but their inaccurate shooting was the cause of the small score. Neither team played with much snap, the weather being too warm for fast football. The teams were:

Berlin (0)—Brown, Kruger, Dickert, Cochrane, Reid, Sheniffs, Eby, Boehmer, Brinkert, Devitt, Rosebat.

Galt (1)—Linton, Gourlay, Ducker, Henderson, Christman, Fraser, Henderson, Steep, Douglas, Twaits, Peacock.

Referee—Brown, Berlin.

Argos Spring Regatta.

A large crowd witnessed the Argonaut Club's Spring regatta, which was held Saturday afternoon. Results:

First heat—Rice's crew won, Phil Boyd 2nd, Forrest 3rd, Murphy 4th.

Second heat—Wadsworth won, Hoyles 2nd. Watson missed the buoy and this put him out of the race.

Third heat—Reiffenstein won, Jordan 2nd, Dixon 3rd. The latter collided with a steam launch and his boat was badly broken. The action of the parties in charge of the launch was roundly denounced.

First semi-final — Reiffenstein won, Wadsworth 2nd, Jordan 3rd.

Second semi-final—Rice won, Boyd 2nd, Hoyles 3rd. The stretcher in the latter's boat broke half-way down the course and put him out of the race.

As there were only three new boats available for the final, Boyd and Wadsworth had to toss, and as Boyd won he went in against the two winners. Rice won after leading all the way. Reiffenstein 2nd, and Boyd 3rd.

The races were rowed over the club course. Fred Thompson was starter and referee.

Canoe Club Races.

From a canoeist's standpoint Saturday afternoon was all that could be desired. The bright sun of the warm June day brought out the scores of small pleasure boats which had been waiting for just such a day. The dinghy section of the Toronto Canoe Club were out in large numbers, but, as the breeze was almost nothing, no fast time was made. No races for these were scheduled. However, several paddling events were pulled off, including the semi-finals single blade handicap for the commodore's prize. The finishes were as follows:

Single blade handicap, semi-final, half-mile, with turn—1, G. Lalor, 40 sec.; 2, H. Forson, 20 sec.; 3, R. Blomfield, scratch. Twelve starters. Time, 6.25.

Single blade tandem, relay, three legs, quarter-mile each—1, Findlay, Woodley, Brent, Wickens, McHardy, Clarke; 2, Brown, McFarlane, Millar, Rogers, Forson, Donaldson; 3, Blomfield, Lalor, Blackburn, Hunt, MacMurtry, Bennett.

Canada's National Game.

Although the Star Lacrosse Club of Mimico lost their first game in the Intermediate Toronto League by 9 to 0 when they met the Elms at home on Saturday, they nevertheless put up a hard fight, and the game all through was very fast. Considering that the Elms played a man from Orangeville and one from Barrie it is a wonder that the Elms of the Intermediate C. L. A. did not more than double the score they made. During the first quarter the West End Y. M. C. A. men helped the visiting team wonderfully, and within the first two minutes they managed to score the first goal. During the second quarter things did not run so smoothly for the picked team, and it was thought that the Stars would no more than hold their own. They did, however, and no goals on either side were scored.

The last half proved fatal for the home team. The Stars seemed to give up all hope, and from the spectators' point of view the blue shirts began to shrink terribly.

The Mimico team would have, no doubt, been victorious had the Elms played their regular team eligible to play in the Intermediate Toronto League.

Jim Cochrane, as usual, put up a fine game for the Stars. Broderick also showed up and was sent to the fence for three minutes during the third quarter. His check will know the reason.

The Stars are requested by George Kay, field captain, to turn out regularly for practice, the want of steady practice being one reason that the score went so hard against them.

SAVE THE BABY

Thousands of infants fall daily from want of nourishment. This is not necessarily due to lack of parental attention. Their efforts in behalf of the child's health are simply wrongly directed. Don't make the mistake of feeding your little one with animal fats and oils which their weak stomachs cannot digest. Give your child good, nutritious food and Angier's Petroleum Emulsion four times a day after meals and at bedtime, and that pinched, woe-begone expression will depart from your little one's face. It will regulate the stomach and digestive organs, act as a natural laxative on the bowels, and promote nutrition. The arteries will become filled with pure, rich red blood, and firm flesh will grow on the little limbs. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is pleasant to take. Children like it. It will lay the foundation for a more vigorous maturity and fortify the system against disease attacks.
