Black House to be Sold. Canadian Press Despatch. Dickens wrote almost the whole of "David Copperfield" in this house.

ROYAL ACADEMY. Distinguished Gathering at Burlington House Given a Private View. Canadian Press Despatch. London, April 29.—There was a distinguished gathering at Burlington House yesterday for a private view of the Royal Academy. There are few paintings in the exhibition which can be described as "pictures of the year," but among the exceptions is the Hon. John Collier's "Eve," a nude. An unusually large number of portraits are shown, of which the best one, "The Archdeacon of Canterbury," is by John Singer Sargent, who generally contributes several. The famous painter, however, is represented by a landscape, "A Waterfall," an open air study, "The Loggia," and a huge decorative wall painting "Armageddon."

TRIBESMEN WILL OPPOSE FRENCH. They Are Preparing to Take Up Arms Against the Foreigners, Says Despatch. Special Cable to The Star. Tangier, April 29.—A united Moroccan will oppose the new French expedition to be sent into that country to crush the rebellious tribesmen, and resist Sultan Mulid Hafid on his throne. Word to that effect was sent here to-day.

According to the message received from Raisuli, who seems to be excited by friendly motives toward France, the Raisuli tribesmen are already preparing to take up arms against the foreigners. Raisuli suggests that an attempt be made to dislodge him from the rebels before starting the united expedition toward Fez.

It is reported here that the expedition under Col. Bremond, after desperate fighting in Fez more than half of the soldiers were killed, succeeded in getting into Fez last Wednesday, and proceeded at once to the French consulate and relieved the little handful of foreigners who were holding that enclosure. It is now hoped that all of the foreigners will be safe until a relief expedition can fight its way through to the Moroccan capital.

SHOE STORE'S TROUBLE. The Emmett Business in Yonge Street Meets With Embarrassment. With reported liabilities of $24,000 and stock assets of only $4,000, the Emmett shoe store, 128 Yonge street, which has been doing an annual business of some $40,000, is financially embarrassed. The business has been conducted under the joint control of Mrs. Herbert N. Emmett, whose husband is the manager.

Representatives of the store's creditors in Toronto, Hamilton, London, and Brockton, Ont., have discussed the situation at the office of solicitors, Johnston, McKay, Dodds, and Grant, and a possible outcome will be that John L. Chisholm, one of the store's managers, will be engaged as manager of the business, associated with Mrs. Emmett. The alternative proposition is the sale of the $4,000 stock.

KNOX CHOIR BANQUET. The Members Entertained By Officers of the Congregation. A very pleasant event took place in Knox Church parlors last evening when the office bearers of the congregation entertained the choir to a banquet, at which about one hundred were present. Dr. W. E. Ferguson presided, and addresses of appreciation of the work of the choir and their director, Prof. H. M. Plummer, were given by Sir Mortimer Clark, Rev. Dr. Parsons, Rev. J. McNeil, B.D., Dr. Donald McLeod, A. L. Leung, B.A., and several members of the session, managers, and trustee board.

During the evening two solos were sung by F. H. Skitch, in a splendid manner, while the choir delighted the company with a magnificent rendering of "Boats Waa Hae."

The event was an unqualified success. Oddfellows' Anniversary Services. In celebration of their 2nd anniversary, the Oddfellows of Toronto district will parade to Massey Hall on Sunday, Rev. W. H. Hincks will deliver the anniversary address, and a musical service will be provided by the Alexander Choir, which will start from Ossigoe and Yonge streets, Jarvis, and Spadina. The public will be welcome.

ROYAL BAN PUT ON THE HOBBLE. Canadian Press Despatch. London, April 29.—The general opinion of the English press on the Lord Chamberlain's order that the hobble skirt be banned at all court functions is that it means the disappearance of that dress.

In court circles it is whispered that Queen Mary positively abhors the hobble skirt; in fact she discounts all extremes of fashion, such as tight skirts, enormous hats, and exaggerated collures.

The disappearance of the hobble, of course, also means the end of the push or official from skirt.

Fashionable dressmakers apparently are glad that these skirts are banned. The manager of one dressmaking firm voiced the opinion of all when she said: "We are pleased to make tight skirts unless specially ordered. I sincerely hope we have heard the last of the detestable hobble; it was forced on us. I think we shall all be glad to see the last of it. I saw no merit in it from beginning to end. Not one hobble in ten fitted properly."

Another leading dressmaker admitted that many gowns for the first court, on May 9, had been designed as "hobbles." These have been entirely reworked.

The careful manner in which any approach to a Royal command has been avoided in the matter is evidenced by the fact that no written message has been sent to dressmakers, but an official from the Lord Chamberlain's office personally called and requested the managers to convey to their clients the information that it was undesirable that tight skirts should be worn at court.

The Queen's position approved by many women and all men. The hope is expressed that the Lord Chamberlain's office will next convey a hint to milliners that big hats must go, too.
